One Touch Record

Two-Way Recording

You can manually record an outgoing conversation to your voicemail box. The recording can then be played back over your phone, or sent to you via email.

Recording a conversation

1. While on an active call, press the button programmed 'record'. The light next to the button will then flash during the conversation. Your conversation is now being recorded.
2. The recorded conversation will be automatically sent to your voicemail box once you hang up or it will be emailed to your nominated email address.
